Innitou History

Lake Innitou (Horn Pond) was one of the most frequented camping sites of the Native Americans. A Native American named Manitou, known to his tribe as the Great Spirit, was believed to live on Horn Pond Mountain (Mount Towanda). He delighted in gazing at his image reflected in the lake water below. Thus, Horn Pond or Lake Innitou water below. Thus, Horn Pond or Lake Innitou means "Looking place of the Great Spirit." This is how your yearbook received its name in 1947, the first year the yearbook was published. Enjoy "reflecting back on your high school memories."

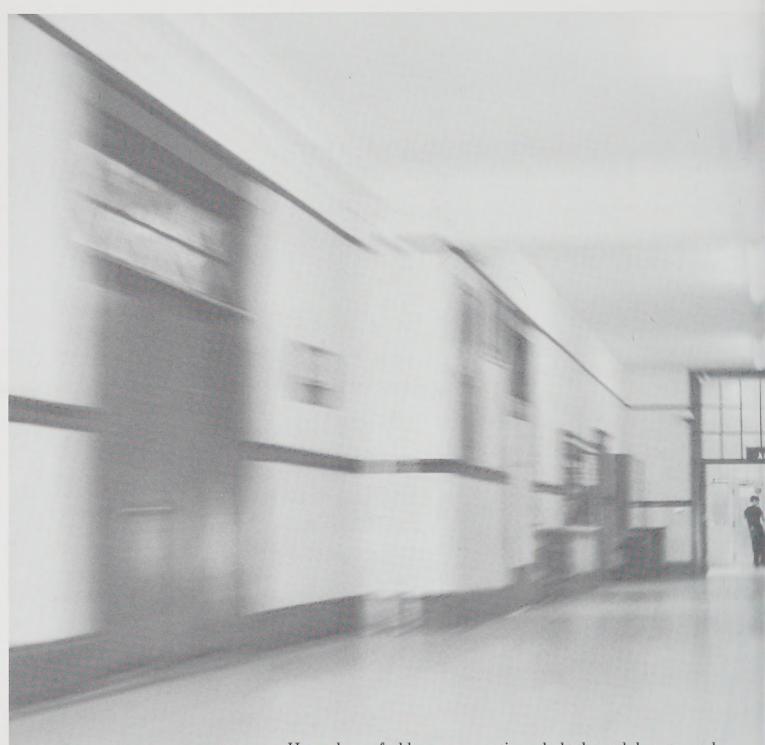

The class of 2007 will always be remembered as the first class to graduate from the new Woburn Memorial High School.

Obviously, this is something to be proud of. We are stepping into the future, carving out a new era for the city of Woburn, and witnessing one of the biggest changes the city has seen in centuries.

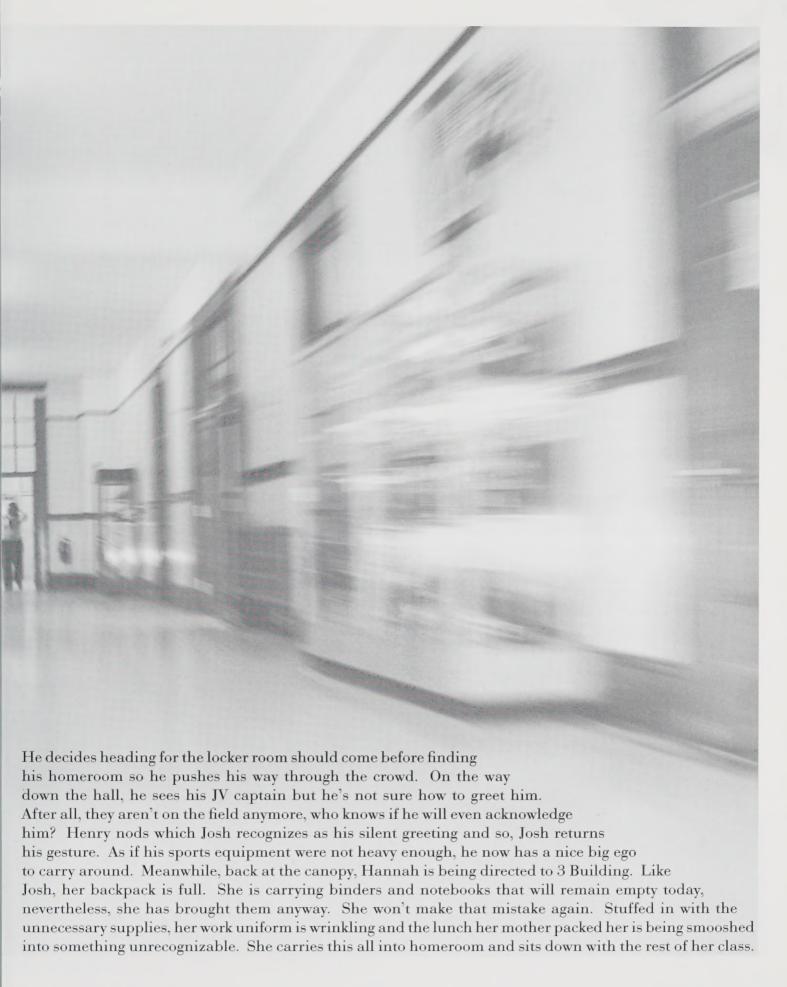

Still, this should not define who we are. We should instead be remembered for being a group of individuals, from different backgrounds, with different interests, and different views, who became the class of 2007.

Like little pieces of a mosaic, our scattered talents and personalities came together and transformed into the image of our class.

What piece were you? What things did you carry?

Hannah can feel her nerves eating a hole through her stomach as she throws her bag over her shoulder. The familiar weight reminds her of middle school, but as she pulls the canopy doors open, she knows her Kennedy years are over. The high school is much larger than she had pictures and she worries she will never find room 3206, her homeroom. She steps through the doors as a huge group of fellow freshmen assemble, all scrambling for maps being handed out by teachers. Searching for her friends is hopeless, so she gets in line behind a tall, blonde boy. "He must be from Joyce," she thinks to herself as she reads the stitching on his black L.L. Bean bag. -Josh backpack is heavier than most because he is carrying a practice jersey, a game jersey, his shin pads, cleats, a water bottle, and enough food and Gatorade to get him through afternoon soccer practice.

Our First Day of High School

It was going okay, and then I walked into my geometry class, and my older brother was sitting there! It was horrifying! But after I got over the shock that my brother was going to be in one of my classes, the rest of the day was fine."

-Meaghan Holloran

"A new school with all new jaces. We weren't the big tough 8th graders any more; we were the puny jreshmen."

-Dave D'Elia

"I remember I was so scared being surrounded by so many people and not knowing half of them. I also remember how scared I was just walking in the hallways because people made high school sound so bad."

-Barka Abdalla

"It was very stary. All the upperclassmen seemed so intimidating. I was stared I was going to get lost , even though I didn't. I tried my best not to make a lool of myself."

-Sarah Lilley

"It was very different from middle school, kind of almost makes you feel like you're in college. Strangers to everyone in the environment, scared to make friends."

-Quoc Doan

"I tried to picture sitting through class in the steel frames." -Tyler Lonergan

"I couldn't wait to see the finished product of what I saw being constructed from start to finish. I knew it would be amazing with a lot of opportunities."

-Andrew Juliano

We're Finally Here!

"The new school is obviously a lot cleaner and has more technology than the old, but the new school does not have as much 'character' as the old school did."

-Joseph LoCoco

Look familiar? The front was the back for most of the year!

"I'm excited to jump into the 21st century."
-Kasey Ward

"I thought the school was unbelievable, it was clean and everything wasn't broken." -Jacky Lau

Some perspective on the magnitude of the new school.

FROM OLD...

There's no doubt the old school had character. Everywhere you looked there was something unique, something different, something that set our school apart from the rest. It was this charm that made it great.

Three small gyms in the old school.

The old Flaherty Auditorium, looking as pristine as ever.

In the cafe we could sit as many people as possible at one table!

Looking down the halls, the old school's eccentricities shine through.

Small and quaint, the old Harlow Library was the perfect place to study!

..TO NEW

The original statues were brought over into the new Flaherty Auditorium.

Our new, huge gym now seats 1,400 people!

With 26 new computers, the new library is an information hub.

What a nice, sterile environment!

Better food, and an allexclusive senior section.

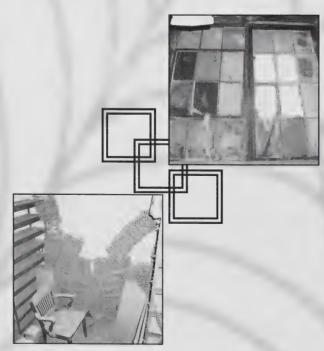

With the transition to the new school, we were introduced to a state-of-the-art technology that set us apart for a different reason. While it may not be the original, Woburn High is now the epitome of what a 21st century high school should be.

The Old Woburn High or Scenes From SAW?

Parts of the old high school that you probably didn't know existed. There were so many interesting and complex parts to the old Woburn High. Some were eerie and some unique.

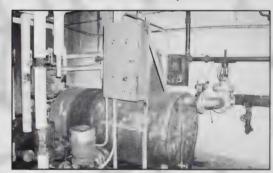

The old ROTC rifle range under the cafeteria.

Old locker room with wire gym baskets.

Fuse box in the Flaherty Auditorium

Wonder why we had heating problems?

The bomb shelter we never saw in the basement of one and two building.

Typical

for a Senior

7:00 am:

Pick up carpool rides and hoping to get to school early to find a space in the overflowing school parking lot.

7:15 am:

Arrive at school and start the never-ending walk to the building

7: 27 am:

Homeroom bell sounds which, as everyone has learned, gives you another five minutes to talk in the hallways.

7: 32 am:

Finally forced into homeroom to listen to morning announcements.

1:04 Period Seven

Open Campus

Most of the freshman are wearing new outfits from Abercrombie and Fitch and American Eagle that cost more than they make in a week at Market Basket. Their hope is that new shoes and hairstyles will detract from the look of uncertainty they wear on their faces. They carry with them a fear of unknown classes, teachers, and students. Once the first few weeks of school are over this fear subsides and the halls and classes are not so intimidating.

Now, about a month after the first day of school, Hannah is carrying around a notebook with people's AIM screen names scribbled in the corners and Josh has thrown his schedule away because he knows all his classes by heart. Thanks to his mandatory gym classes he now carries around gym clothes, and thanks to pre-algebra, honors American history, physical science, and French, he has an overwhelming load of text books to fill his backpack. Sure, he has a locker, but he is convinced he is tough enough to carry the books for 7 periods. Hannah, on the other hand, has a locker in 3 building and friends with lockers in 2, 6, and 8 buildings. She carries around the locker combinations for all of these because freshmen would never dream of leaving their lockers unlocked. Maybe they are afraid their abstract painting from Art 1 looks really desirable to some junior, or are actually foolish enough to bring something valuable into Woburn High. Eventually, most learn that the only way to use a locker is to leave it open; however, this is not the only lesson they learn as freshmen. For example, Hannah learns that her parents do not really appreciate her first C grade, even if it was only in a minor class. Josh learns that classes in "eight-one" (everyone's name for the bottom floor of 8 building) require a winter jacket, even when it is 70 degrees outside.

As they leave after their first year as Woburn High students, they carry with them a whole slew of knowledge they are ready to pass to the incoming freshmen, such as: 1) No one likes you to walk up the left side of the staircase. 2) There is a doorstop in the middle of the floor near 2 building that has the sole purpose of tripping people. 3) If you haven't fallen on the stairs, you are in the minority, and 4) if there are buckets on the floor...it's raining.

An Unforgettable Teacher

When I began your class I think I knew
The kind of challenges you'd make me face.
You gave me motivation to pursue
The best, and to reject the common place.

Your thinking really opened up my mind.
With wisdom, style and grace, you made me see,
That what I'd choose to seek, I'd surely find;
You shook me out of my complacency.

I thank you now for everything you've done; What you have taught me I will not outgrow. Your kind attention touched my mind and heart; In many ways that you will never know.

By Joanna Fuchs

Graduating Staff Members Best Wishes!

Mr. John O'Reilly

Mr. O'Reilly has been a teacher since 1975. He started teaching biology and physical science at the Joyce Middle School before becoming a science and alternative education teacher at Woburn Memorial High. He strives to make a difference in his student's lives everyday. Mr. O'Reilly lives by this trusted advice, "Don't hold grudges. This trip though life is short. Enjoy every minute."

Mrs. LorettaPapadonis

Mrs. Papadonis started in the Woburn School System in 1974. She worked as a guidance counselor for the Kennedy Middles school and the high school. In 1997 Mrs. Papadonis became a full time guidance counselor at the high school. She truly enjoys working with the students and on many occasions students have come back to thank her. One of her favorite quotes is "Hard work always pays off and brings good results. Always try your hardest."

Mr. Jerry O'Neil

Mr. O' Neil has been a teacher in Woburn since 1970. He began teaching Physical Education at the Clapp, Reeves, and Hurld Elementary Schools. Mr. O'Neil loves working with young people, and being involved with sports and athletics. Mr. O'Neil always gives this advice to his students and colleagues, "Be patient. Everything has a way of working itself out."

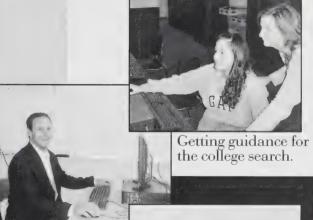

Mrs. Loretta Shuck

Mrs. Shuck has been with the Woburn School System since 1967. She began teaching third grade at the Wyman Elementary School. She loves to instruct young people and will especially miss the daily conversations she has with all of the friends she has made at the high school. One of Mrs. Shuck's favorite memories of her career is accompanying Ms. Fiore and her french class to Paris in 2003. Her favorite quote is "Being firm but fair will win the respect from all of your students."

I am a Yearbook

I am a yearbook.

I make no pretense for great literary worth;
Of time I am belittled,
and I will be the butt of later-life jokes,
Because some things written on my pages
will seem childish,
when read again with older eyes.

But at this moment, they are part of a life we know and love.

The unshielded phrases of youth may mar my pages,

But I know my strength;

I know my place;

I will be succeeded time and again.

But, I can never be replaced,
because I hold all the memories of this small place.

Someday, I will be taken down from the shelf, the dust will be blown from my cover, and the curious eyes of eager childhood will scan my pages for a loved face.

Nothing born of love really dies, and I was created with infinite care by the young people who loved this school and all she stands for.

Who believed that all that happened here is worth remembering, is worth recording, on the pages of this dusty old book.

Dedication Mr. Wayne Suchecki

The Class of 2007, along with the Woburn Memorial High school staff dedicate our edition of the Innitou to Mr. Wayne Suchecki, who has dedicated over thirty five years of service to the Woburn school system. He has influenced the lives of many students. He started teaching history at the Joyce Junior High and then transferred to the high school. Mr. Suchecki provides students with an understanding of historical events as well as appreciation of the diverse cultures that have impacted our daily lives. He has been class advisor for many years. Mr. Suchecki welcomes the students in their freshman year and works with them planning dances, proms and class activities throughout their high school career. He is a team player and a great role model.

Since she told Josh to text her when he got to school, Hannah anxiously fumbles with her pocketbook as she tries to find her cell phone. So much has changed between the two over the summer. By the end of freshmen year he had stopped being just the "blonde boy from the Joyce". Now, the two talk regularly and, today, Hannah cannot understand why he waited until 2nd period to send her a message. When she finally manages to flip open her phone, she is disappointed by Josh's text which simply reads, "Hey". Aggravated, she tosses it back into the Coach purse that has replaced her backpack this year.

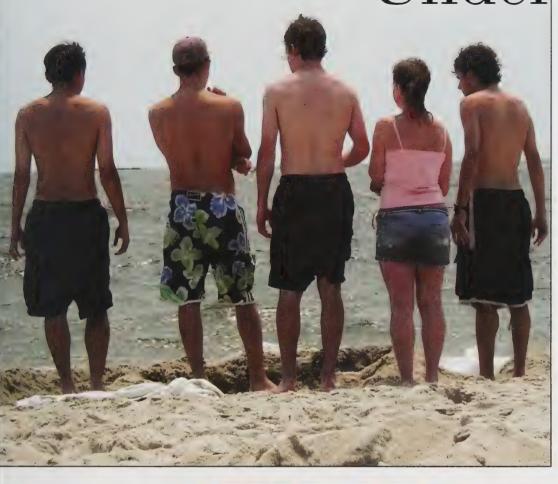

"Who was it?" asks Natalie who has been walking next to Hannah since they left Biology. She pulls the headphones she is wearing out of one ear to hear Hannah's response. Yet, the look on Hannah's face says it all. They continue on to 3rd period with Natalie's old CD player blaring Incubus' Megalomaniac.

In front of Mrs. Andrew's office, Josh stares at his phone waiting for a response. After a few moments he knows one is not coming, so he starts off to period 3 with his late slip in hand. This morning, his brother could not seem to get his old Camry started, so he had to walk all the way from the West Side. It was the prelude to an all-around awful day. With his mind on the Woburn vs. Lexington track meet this afternoon, he has completely forgotten the geometry test and, as he will soon find, his running sneakers.

Under the Sun

I dig my toes into the sand. The ocean looks like a thousand diamonds strewn across a blue blanket.

I lean against the wind, pretend that I am weightless, and in this moment I am happy... happy.

I wish you were here I wish you were here I wish you were here I wish you were here.

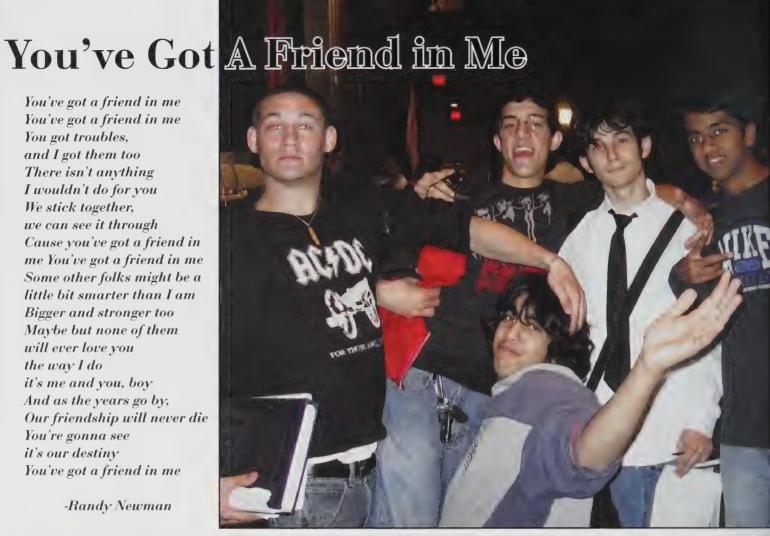

- Incubus

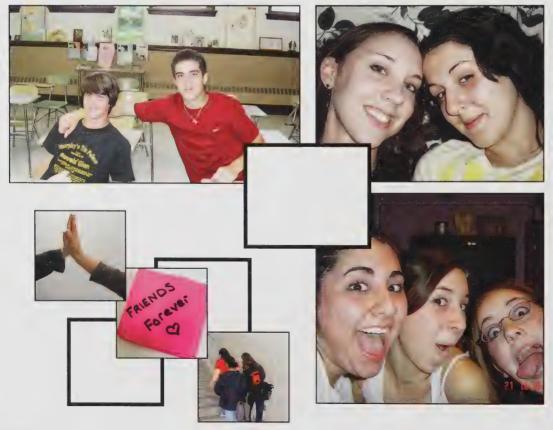

You've got a friend in me You've got a friend in me You got troubles, and I got them too There isn't anything I wouldn't do for you We stick together, we can see it through Cause you've got a friend in me You've got a friend in me Some other folks might be a little bit smarter than I am Bigger and stronger too Maybe but none of them will ever love you the way I do it's me and you, boy And as the years go by, Our friendship will never die You're gonna see it's our destiny You've got a friend in me

-Randy Newman

Saved by the Bell

When I wake up in the morning And the alarm gives out a warning And I don't think I'll ever make it on time. By the time I grab my books And I give myself a look I'm at the corner just in time to see the bus fly by It's alright 'coz I'm saved by the bell If the teacher pops a test I know I'm in a mess And my dog ate all my homework last night Right alone in my chair She won't know that I'm there If I can hand it in tomorrow it will be alright It's alright 'coz I'm saved by the bell It's alright 'coz I'm saved by the 'coz I'm saved by the bell. It's alright 'coz I'm saved by the 'coz I'm saved by the bell.

-Scott Gale

RAH, RAH, RAH!

Black and Orange Black and Orange Give a hearty yell Fight, Fight with all your might For Woburn High

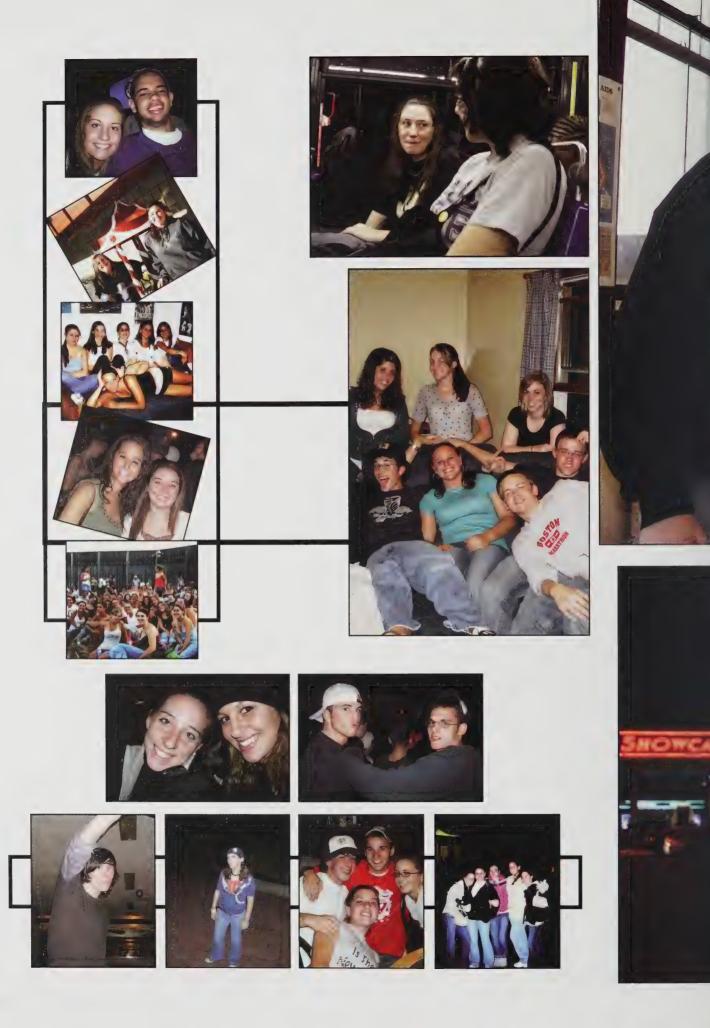

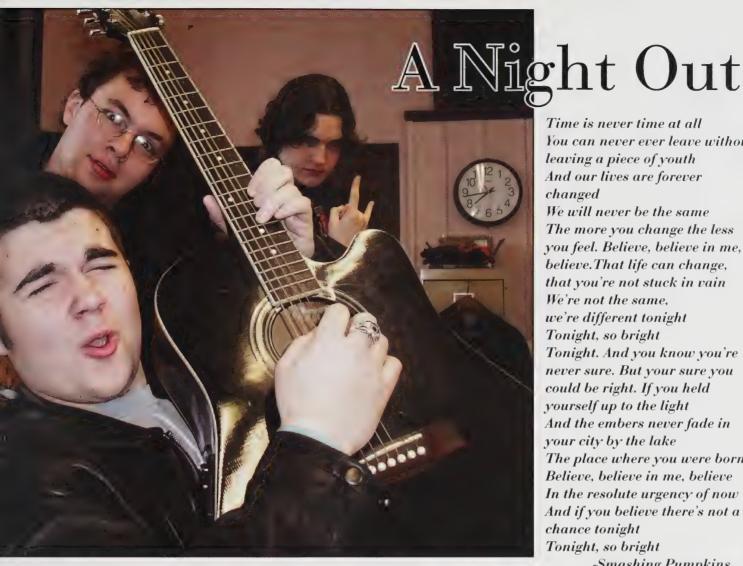

Time is never time at all You can never ever leave without leaving a piece of youth And our lives are forever changed

We will never be the same The more you change the less you feel. Believe, believe in me, believe. That life can change, that you're not stuck in vain We're not the same, we're different tonight Tonight, so bright Tonight. And you know you're never sure. But your sure you could be right. If you held yourself up to the light And the embers never fade in your city by the lake The place where you were born Believe, believe in me, believe In the resolute urgency of now And if you believe there's not a chance tonight Tonight, so bright -Smashing Pumpkins

Dance Class.

Like Josh, Hannah finds it is what she is not carrying today that is making her day miserable. She left her sweatshirt in her locker and she can see her own breath in history class. Luckily, Bruce, who sits in front of her, hands over his football sweatshirt for the day. The temperature in the classroom is the last thing on his mind. He has three chapters of Lord of the Flies to read before 4th period and is finding it hard to pretend to copy the history notes...

***

It is Hannah and Josh's junior year. They pull into an empty parking space and stare behind the school at the steel skeleton that seems to have been constructed overnight.

"Wow the new school is huge," Hannah says, as she pulls the rearview mirror towards her. She makes a few adjustments to her hair and then turns to Josh who is clearly annoyed. "I wouldn't have to use this mirror if your car wasn't ancient and actually had one in the visor," she remarks as she pushes the rearview back. Josh ignores her and takes the keys out of the ignition. He tosses them proudly into his pocket with his wallet. Ironically, his car is a mess but just carrying keys and a license makes everyone feel cooler. With a confident air, the two walk into school together.

Inside, a few changes have been made. The old multi-colored lockers have been painted black and orange to cover up the stickers and writing that previously plastered their surface. As Hannah walks by, she notices a few students attempting to squish band instruments into these foreign lockers. She happens to recognize one girl from her math class last year. She smiles and continues on her way to homeroom, leaving the girl behind struggling with her instrument case.

Superlatives 2007

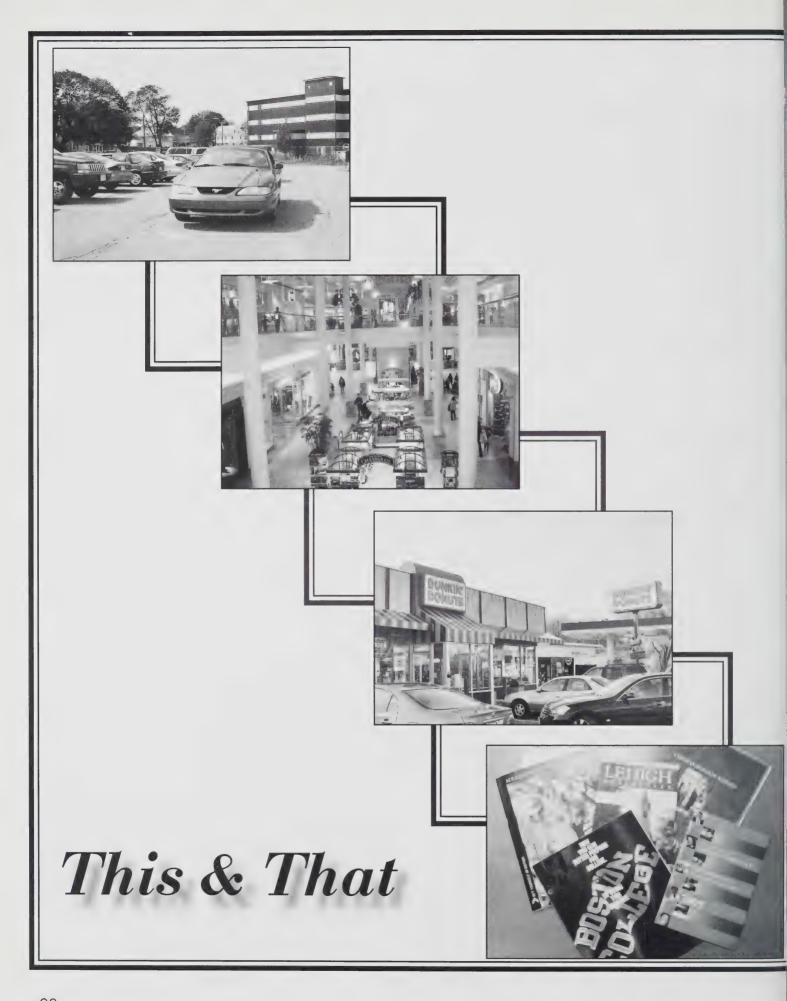

Mindy wishes she did not have to carry this clarinet around, although she does not regret taking band for a minute. It is almost as if carrying around that big black case makes her feel like a part of something special. Because of it, she shares in the inside jokes that only chorus, band, and drama know about. Glancing around, she sees vacant lockers which belonged to her friends who graduated last year. Soon enough, these lockers will be bursting with other people's papers and scripts and sheet music. She shakes off an unexplainable depression by grabbing her new Ipod out of her messenger bag. Turning Nirvana up to full volume, she makes the last ditch effort to slam shut her overstuffed locker. While cautiously stepping back, she waits for the metal door to burst open. When it doesn't, she heads off toward 2 building humming "Smells like Teen Spirit".

Everywhere Mindy looks, students are either chatting on their cell phones, or, like her, have the familiar white Ipod headphones jutting out of their ears. All are blissfully unaware of the sound of machinery echoing in the background. Piece by piece the new school is taking form on what was once the football field while the current high school is falling to pieces. The windows won't close completely, shades (if there even are any) are a danger to whom ever is brave enough to tug on them, and "wet floor" signs are being placed where there is the most imminent threat of a falling ceiling tile.

Nevertheless, the juniors have come to know and love the familiarity of creaky stairs, busted windows, and electrical wires hanging from the ceiling. Sure, they joke about it now, but they will always reflect fondly on the memories they carry with them from the old building. I mean, how many other schools can boast having ivy growing on the inside of the walls?

Shouldn't that iced coffee be in a closed container?

Never too cool to carry a lunch.

"No Such Thing"

Welcome to the real world, she said to me
Condescendingly
Take a seat, take your life
Plot it out in black and white
Well I never lived the dreams of the prom kings
And the drama queens
I'd like to think the best of me
Is still hiding up my sleeve

They love to tell you Stay inside the lines But something's better On the other side

I wanna run through the halls of my high school
I wanna scream at the
Top of my lungs
I just found out there's no such thing as the real world
Just a lie you've got to rise above

So the good boys and girls take the so called right track
Faded white hats
Grabbing credits and maybe transfers
They read all the books but they can't find the answers
And all of our parents
They're getting older
I wonder if they've wished for anything better
While in their memories
Tiny tragedies

They love to tell you
Stay inside the lines
But something's better
On the other side
I wanna run through the halls of my high school
I wanna scream at the top of my lungs
I just found out there's no such thing as the real world
Just a lie you got to rise above

I am invincible
I am invincible
I am invincible
As long as I'm alive

I wanna run through the halls of my high school
I wanna scream at the

Top of my lungs
I just found out there's no such thing as the real world
Just a lie you've got to rise above
I just can't wait til my 10 year reunion
I'm gonna bust down the double doors
And when I stand on these tables before you
You will know what all this time was for

The Nights We'll Never Forget

"Everyone lets go for the night, and they talk to people they don't know, it's like one big group of friends. Dances are so much fun."

-Stephanie Peterson

"Hanging with everyone and dancing is awesome. Watching Far From Authority do their thing at junior prom was the best part of the night."

-Corey Stanquist

"Dances are great because I like to shake my groove thing, I'm an expert at it. I'm probably in the Guiness Book of World Records somewhere...page 35?"

-Nikki Gangi

Enjoying our first high school dance.

In the past, many students had attended dances held in the cafeteria of the Jovce or Kennedy, but very few had experienced a true high school dance. The first one the we attended together was the freshman dance. The class officers decided on an 80's theme and everyone was excited to experience a blast from the past.

As students arrived, the Flaherty Auditorium began to look more and more like a scene out of the movie "The Breakfast Club". The girls strolled in with their side ponytails. off the shoulder sweatshirts, leg-warmers, fishnets, and big hairdos. Most guys didn't have as much 80's style as the girls, but those who did looked great. They came in wearing tight jeans and leather jackets with their hair slicked back. It was no surprise when the DJ announced that Chris Day, Drew Juliano, Dave, and Dan D'Elia won the 80's dress up contest because they definitely had the best look.

While the DI mixed 80's tunes in with the latest hits, most agreed this was a night they wouldn't soon forget. One high school dance down, many more to go...

As early as the beginning of sophomore year, the search was on to find a date to the "semi". Some took the easy route of asking friends, while others worked up the courage to ask that special person they had a crush on forever. Either way, most students from our class attended the sophomore semi and had an excellent time. Up until then, all of the dances had been casual, and many wondered how to prepare for our first semi formal.

After long hours of shopping, getting our hair done, and ordering corsages and boutonnieres, the day finally arrived. The Sophomore Class Activities Committee took off an entire day of classes in order to have the Flaherty Auditorium beautifully decorated for our special evening.

Our semi was on a freezing night in May, and many were dressed to impress, which unfortunately doesn't mean dressed warmly. Regardless of the cool temperatures outside, the crowded dance floor was heating up. Maroon 5, Usher, and a variety of other bands blasted through the speakers as everyone danced with their dates and friends. The time flew by, but the night was still young. During the last couple songs many friends discussed where they should get a bite to eat after. Too soon the night was over, and laughter and sighs of relief could be heard as the students filed out of the auditorium. Many memories were made that night and, with their first formal dance down, anticipation for junior prom began to grow...

Only a few months of school remained for the juniors at Woburn High. However, we had more to look forward to than just summer vacation. The Junior Prom was scheduled for April 7, 2006 at the Hillview Country Club in Reading. In the days leading up to this memorable event, students had been very occupied making appointments, booking limos, ordering flowers, and shopping for the perfect accessories.

Our special night finally came, and unfortunately, so did the rain. Students were disappointed, but not willing to let a little bad weather ruin the best night of their junior year. DJ Danny McGuire was busy playing songs like Promiscuous Girl by Nelly Furtado; Move Along by The All American Rejects; and Over My Head by The Fray, as the we nervously arrived.

A chicken entrée was just the beginning to a wonderful evening. As the line for pictures quickly grew, the dance floor began to fill. We danced the night away to our favorite songs and many wished the night would never end. Before we knew it, the prom was over. As we all know, all good things must come to an end. Junior Prom '06 was a huge success and set high expectations for the Senior Prom in 2007.

Millionth picture before prom!

On December 8th, the Activities Committee proved once again that they know how to throw a semi-formal. After all, who could have imagined the new high school lobby would be such a perfect place to hold our senior Holiday Dance?

Garland draped across the walls while the heating did its best to combat the freezing drafts from students entering through the massive glass doors. From corner to corner it seemed as though red and green were the colors of the night as many people tried to get into the holiday spirit.

Like all of our dances, the floor was packed with students (and even a few teachers) dancing to everything from Poison's Every Rose Has Its Thorn, to Jim Jone's We Fly High. The three short hours flew by and it was again time to grab the coats and begin the long walk to the rear parking lot. As seniors, there was now only one last dance to go?

You've got a friend in me.
You've got a friend in me.
When the road looks rough ahead,
And you're miles and miles from your nice warm bed.
You just remember what your ol' pal said.
Boy, you've got a friend in me.
Yeah, you've got a friend in me.

You've got a friend in me.
You've got a friend in me.
You got troubles, and I got 'em too.
There isn't anything I wouldn't do for you.
If we stick together we can see it through,
Cause you've got a friend in me.
You got a friend in me.

Some other folks might be a little bit smarter than I am. Bigger and stronger too.

Maybe, but none of them will ever love you the way I do, It's me and you, boy.

And as the years go by,
Our friendship will never die.
You gonna see it's our destiny.
You've got a friend in me.
You got a friend in me.
You got a friend in me.

Before they know it, senior year is upon them. Natalie and Randy sit in French class trying to decipher their SAT scores. Luckily, their teacher is too busy reading their Comment J'ai Passé Mes Vacances D'été essays to notice. Both have test scores worthy of private colleges, but are still convinced they won't get in. "Have you started your applications yet?" Randy asks, hoping he isn't the only one behind. Natalie opens up her scribble covered folder to reveal a copy of a BC application. "I've been meaning to go to guidance with this because I'm still missing a few things," she says quietly as the French teacher glances up from her feverish correcting. "It's not done," she adds quickly noticing a worried look pass over Randy's face.

Both of them get a sinking feeling that they are really in over their heads this year. Most of their classes are AP level and with work and college, their minds are completely overloaded. The stress of dealing with their future lies heavily, almost like a weight on their bodies, as they stare down at the pages of unintelligible French spread out in front of them. "Wasn't senior year supposed to be a joke?" Randy scoffs as he leans back in his chair...

It is now May, and everyone has finalized plans for the next year. Josh wants to stay close to home, so he chooses to study business at Middlesex. Hannah, on the other hand, is attending UCLA on the west coast. Mindy's talents in band and chorus have earned her a ticket into Berkley, Randy was accepted into Boston College, and Natalie decided on accounting at Bentley. With a giddy excitement, these seniors join with their entire class in the auditorium for the last time. Their senior assembly is short and, almost as soon as they enter, they are shuffled out again. As they leave they are given one last thing to carry, their yearbooks...

Standing near the pool, holding their stuffed Nemo, the team starts their four part cheer of "Orange Crush." The seniors lead off, followed by the juniors, sophomores, and the last the freshman. Captain Holly Black declares, "This year's swim team has had the most positive attitude yet." This has allowed for the team to swim their best against every team, depsite having an extremely young team, consiting mostly of freshman.

Standing in a circle, they whisper, "She who has the will to win cannot be beaten!" This is the quote in which the girls play by. Having the incredible ability to never give up has allowed the team to be one of the only teams to tie the power-house Watertown. With the endless gatherings and pasta parties where the girls have "eaten like it's their job" the girls have become more like sisters. The eleven seniors will leave this team remembering the unexplainable bond, that they have developed.

Shooting Up a Storm

"Are you psyched?1?" Captain Lauren Duran screams as the team stands huddled around her. "Ya...psyched...Ya!" as they prepare to take the field. This season has been a year to remember for the girls. With a new coach and an extremely challenging league, the team found itself a bit unlucky. However, with a tie against rival Winchester, the team found itself in the tourney. With the numerous pasta parties and long practices, this group of girls have become more than a team, they have become friends.

Of course he does...its Toronto!

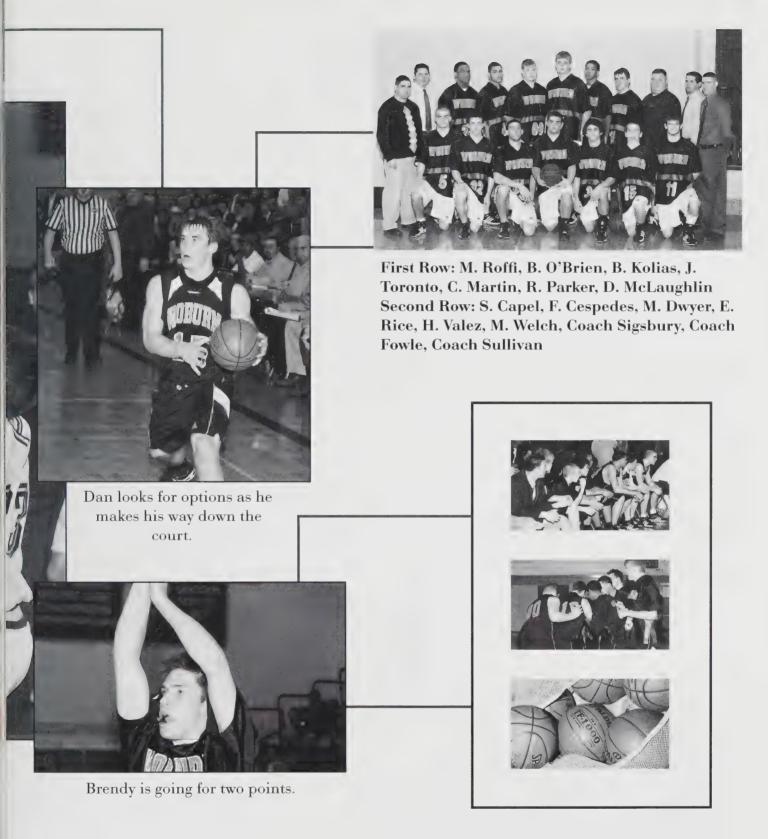

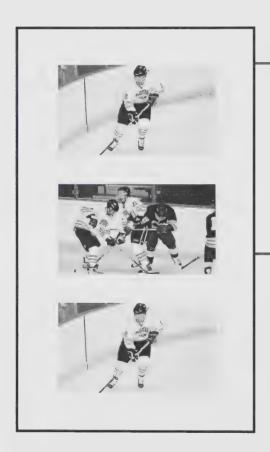

When people pick a team to go far during the season, some teams usually crack under pressure. Not this team! These boys have proven their supporters right. They are tearing up the Middlesex League, dominating their opponents. The unique aspect about this team is that everyone can play. There is an extreme amount of talent. The boys can come off the bench and play like the starters. With this much talent, it's no guess that these boys will go far into the post season.

Crashing The Boards

It's just the four seniors!

Sousa, scoring goals like it's her job!

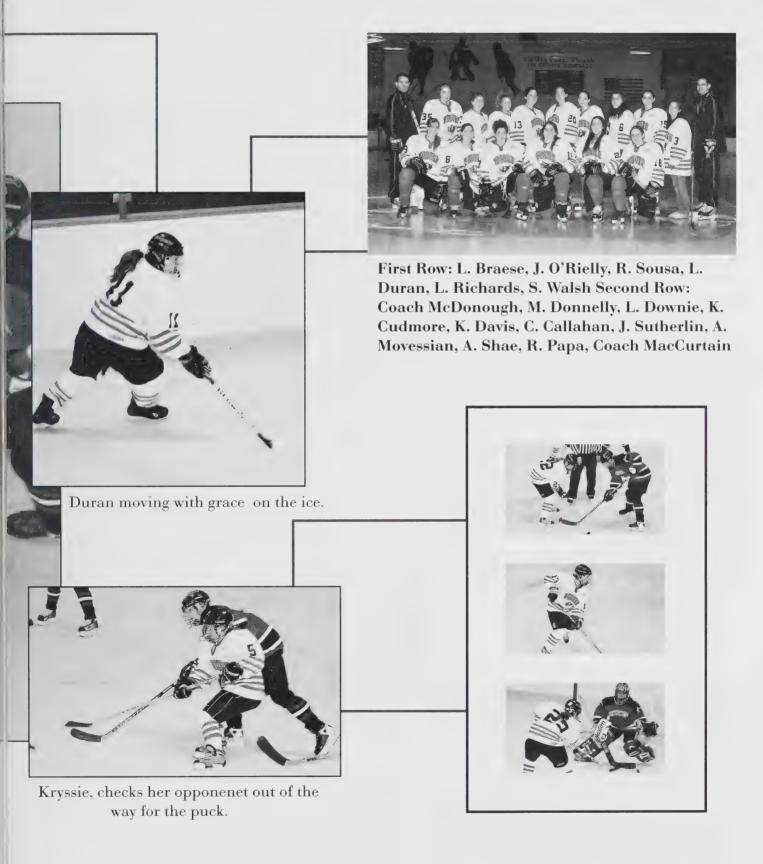

Despite losing some of the best players the Woburn High Girls Hockey team has seen, this group of girls proves that they have just as much talent as last year's team. The team hasn't let some issues such as finding a new goalkeeper and starters hinder their performance. They have continued to tear through the Middlesex League and win most of their games. With talented senior captains it is no wonder that these girls have become some of the best in the league. More than that, these girls have become more like a family. With all the pasta parties, team bonding days, and long practices, it is going to be difficult for these seniors to forget such a great season.

Vaulting To Victory

We are number 1!

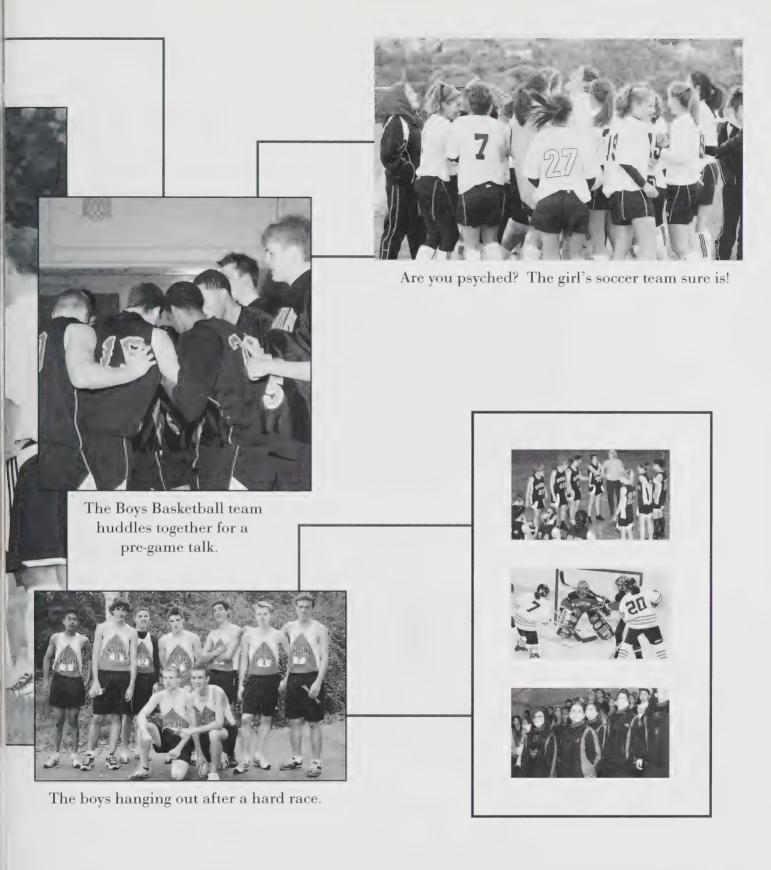

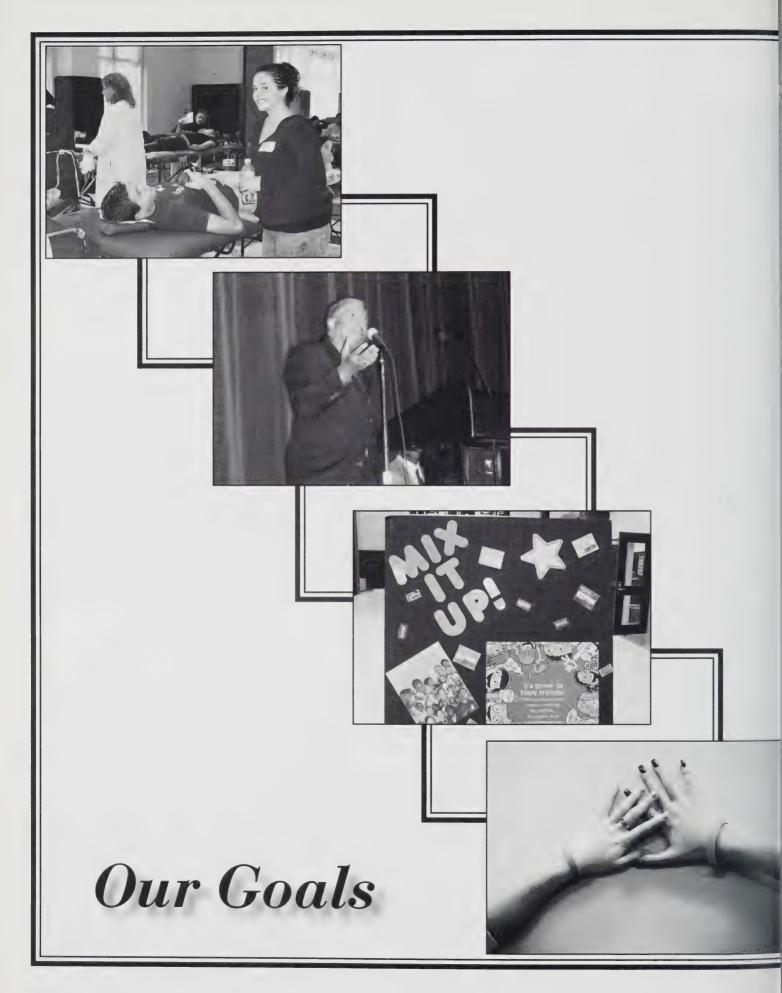

High school sports aren't always about the number of championships the team wins or about who scores the most goals. What it comes down to is the memories the athletes make as a team. In the future, you will most likely forget about going 16-2 in a season. The memories that will last a lifetime are the friends you have made and the unforgettable times you have spent as a team. From pasta parties to the team-bonding days to the bus rides to your away games; these are the things that you will remember for a lifetime.

There is No "I" in Team

As everyone turns the crisp pages of their new yearbooks, the smell of ink fills the hallway. Everywhere, huddled in groups of three or four, friends are eagerly pointing out pictures of each other. At one end of the hall, Natalie and Hannah are in hysterics looking at a picture of themselves freshman year. "You let me wear my hair like that?" Natalie screeches as she shoves Hannah jokingly. Hannah comes close to bumping into a group of boys to her left, but manages to regain her footing. The boys take absolutely no notice of her as they are too busy teasing Trey, the unfortunate victim of an intense sports photo. In one shot, the athlete's face is contorted beyond recognition as he tries to save a goal. The laughter is at its height as most people reach the end of the book with the parent ads. Here the pages are riddled with pictures from elementary school and baby photos.

Upon seeing these images, the seniors are brought back to the innocence of their childhood days. Some of the girls remember wearing dresses and those little socks with the frilly lace on the edges. Wryly, they all gaze down and realize their cute socks and shiny white shoes have been replaced by some rather uncomfortable heels. Meanwhile, the boys are fighting over who had the sickest lunch box as a kid. Ninja Turtles, Batman, and Power Rangers seem to be at the top of the list. One boy recounts the time he accidentally brought his sister's Cinderella lunch box to kindergarten because it was blue like his Thomas the Train Engine one. Life was so simple then. Those were the times when all they had to carry were their lunches, and the only worry to weigh them down was if they missed Legends of the Hidden Temple.

Where We're Going...

A Final Farewell for the Class of 2007

As tragic as it was for us to see our beloved school being torn down, we all knew that it was time to say goodbye. What we didn't know, however, was how difficult it would be to leave everyone we met in this school. Whether we were walking down the creaky wooden halls of the old high school, or winding our way up the never ending staircases of the new high school, it didn't matter. The building couldn't define us, because the people are the ones who made this class. Here we are, with our final farewells.

Goodbye Woburn High

Monkey Bread

You will need: 3 tubes Pillsbury buttermilk biscuits (Make sure they are 10 count each) Sugar & cinnamon Brown sugar & butter

Mix 1 cup sugar and enough cinnamon to make it brown in a Ziploc bag or Tupperware container
You will use this to shake and coat biscuits.
Take 1st tube of buttermilk biscuit
Cut open each round biscuit into quarters
Shake it in sugar/cinnamon mixture.
Place in Bundt pan.
Repeat with 2nd and 3rd tube of biscuits

Repeat with 2nd and 3rd tube of biscuits. Melt ¾ cup of butter in a saucepan-mix in ½ cup brown sugar till smooth.

Pour over biscuits. Bake 350 for 25-30 minutes. Tip it out onto a plate while warm so it comes out easily.

Enjoy - You can warm in microwave easily if you make it ahead of time.

Good Luck Class of 2007

Congratulations Lisa!!

We congratulate you
on your impressive accomplishments.
Thanks for making us so proud of you.

With all our love,
Mom, Dad, Laura & Ba

Katie Von Vogt

Success:

To laugh often and much, to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children, to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends, to appreciate beauty, to find the best in others, to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.

This is to have succeeded! ~ Ralph Waldo Emerson

Katie, you are on the path to great success. We love your intelligence, humor, beauty, compassion, and integrity.

We are so proud of you!
